FROM THE FRONT.

From the western theatre of war comes the news that the allies are slowly but surely clearing the domes of Belgium of the Germans. In this operation they have been assisted by the British and French warships. Allied warships have landed and dropped bombs at central points. At Solons the French now claim that their front is stronger than ever. This does not mean, however, that they do not have to fight, in fact, they tell of the heroism of the Moroccans, who acted as rearguard when the French boats were retreating across the river.

In the East the Russians appear to have taken the offensive. In front of Warsaw, Hindenburg seems to have realized that that city cannot be captured by a frontal attack, and it is believed that he is to try to push the Russians beyond the borders of the Vistula at the junction of that river with the Pilsa. West of Warsaw he made six attacks on Saturday morning, but the Russian forces repulsed them. The Russian army on the defensive. The Russians have won another victory over the Germans, destroying an army corps and routing the rest.

The Turks fear that Britain will invade Palestine, and it sounds odd that they are fortifying the hills around Nisnash.

SOUTH WENTWORTH LIBERALS.

At a meeting on Saturday afternoon next a mass meeting of members of the South Wentworth Liberal Association will be held in the Liberal Club, Victoria, James street, when Mr. N. W. Rowell, K. C., the Liberal leader in the Local House, will deliver an address, election of officers will be held and the association reorganized. It is hoped and expected that there will be a large attendance. Mr. Rowell will have a message from the Liberal of South Wentworth and no Liberal in the riding should be absent from the meeting, if he can possibly attend. The death of Sir George Williams and the election of the Ontario Cabinet are matters of some moment in the political world. The chief minister, Mr. Tupper, in this Province was Sir John A. Macdonald. His passing has left a large blank in their midst, one that the new Premier does not altogether fill. The death of Sir George Williams and the election of the Ontario Cabinet are matters of some moment in the political world. The chief minister, Mr. Tupper, in this Province was Sir John A. Macdonald. His passing has left a large blank in their midst, one that the new Premier does not altogether fill.

The last election cost an increased number of Liberals to the Legislature, so that Mr. Rowell will be in a better position than ever to fight the Liberal battle.

South Wentworth was long in the Liberal column, and there is no reason why it should again be in the Liberal column. True, Mr. Rowell is running for the constituency, keeping a portion of the city of Hamilton in the Liberal column, and he has a large majority of 350 at the last election. But we believe that if the proper candidate was chosen in good time, that he could carry the constituency and make his opinions known to the farmers, that their majority could be overcome. In 1911 Mr. Regan's majority was only 100, and we understand that Mr. Rowell believes in early nominations.

WHO CAUSED THE WAR?

This is an old question. But it will not down. The fact that every nation is denying its responsibility for bringing it on shows that it is still alive. It is an old question. But it will not down. tion, if carried out, would result in war, hence his superhuman efforts to maintain the peace. British proposed to Germany more than one way of preventing a disturbance of the peace and when that country would agree to neither she asked her to submit any plan. Whatever it was, if it promised peace, Britain would support her. But Germany again refused. She declared that it was a question. She said that she was not a question. Canada, the Canadian Red Cross Society has another earnest appeal to all Canadians for help, as the society is in great need of money, and there is so much to do to provide for the needs of the men at the front. In the course of a short time now over 30,000 Canadians will be in the trenches at the front, and it is the duty of the people here at home to see that they have the necessary comfort. The story at home must gladly do their share in this great war, and one way to do this is to the utmost of their means to the funds of the Red Cross Society. The Canadian Red Cross Society for money, for comforting, clothing, food, etc., all of which may be sent to the Canadian Red Cross Society, 71 King street east, Toronto, Canada.

PRACTICAL STREET SUITS

A Deep Collar and Buttons trim the Pointed Coat

Front and Back of a full Belled Smock Suit

The Loose Blouse Coat Over a Tiered Skirt

A Long Sleeved Redingote

THE suit that can be a combination of the latest styles and of fashionable beauty is the popular one just now. The business woman, and she who knows the attraction of appropriate, consistent dressing, will insist on simplicity in line and trimming and good, wearable materials. These essentials are combined in the models that reflect the best taste in makers and buyers. They are shown in a valuable group that should guide you in the choice of street suits for practical wear.

In a dark stone gray is the suit with a pointed skirt on the coat. The point is at the back, and a broad belt of the cloth finishes the waist line. Long sleeves are fitted and have narrow cuffs of black velvet. At the top of the coat is a large straight collar of velvet that falls at the back and front in a stiff line that suggests the military note in many of the fashions of the hour. The skirt is plain, and large ball buttons trim the coat and finish the suit. The front and back of an oxford gray suit are shown. It is of practical material and is cut on a simple, loose line that any business or college woman will treasure. There is a curved yoke at the front to which is attached a slightly full lower part. At the back this yoke is squared off and pleats fall from each side. The buttons stop at the belt. This belt of cloth is a feature, for its line is slanting across both front and back, passing through a strap at one side and fastening at the other.

A redingote is a practical style, for it can be used without the skirt that accompanies it, acting the part of a separate coat. The model shown is of dark blue cloth, with a gray collar at the back. There are no revers at the front, the buttons fastening all the way up to the chin. At the sides there is considerable fullness in pleats over each hip. The sleeves are long and fitted.

In dark green the last of the practical group is shown. The skirt is tiered, a good note, and the coat is a loose blouse coat with a belt. A large collar of seal skin trims the coat and the sleeves rejoice in seal skin cuffs. Durable, warm and smart is this suit. It offers excellent opportunity to use pieces of fur.

There is a delightful variety in street suits. The skirts can be straight or flaring; coats can be plain or modified along bolero, redingote or Russian lines. Braid, fur, buttons and contrasting cloth will trim the best models. And the wearer will walk out upholding the reputation of the American woman for being the best-dressed woman in the world of fashion.

ARMY GAINS IN FLANDERS DUNES

Renewed Severe Fighting Went to Their Forces.

Air Squadron Does Much Damage to Germans at Ostend.

Paris, Jan. 17.—Severe fighting in Flanders, near Arras, in the region of Perthes and north of the farm of de la Motte, in the Argonne, with a decided advantage for the allies, is reported in the official communiqués of the French War Office to-day. At Neuport the Belgians and French pushed forward and drove the Germans from their entrenched line in the sand dunes, at the same time destroying a fort from which the enemy had been shooting and doing considerable execution.

The communiqué reports at 10.35 o'clock to-night reports "nothing of the operations, but says that a severe storm is raging between the Argonne and the Vosges."

Quiet still prevails at Bouzon, but further to the east, at Tron, the Germans made an attack yesterday, but were easily checked. The communiqué reports that the Argonne is beginning to assume considerable proportions. The action there yesterday was a violent one, and the French, through a series of successful attacks, enabled them to push their lines forward over a wide front. The communiqué reports that the allies' artillery is moving in, and that the German advance is being checked.

Operations in the Argonne are apparently at a standstill. No news of movement has been received from there for some time, but it is reported officially that the French are assembling a large force near the Argonne, and that they are merely waiting for an opportunity to make a new offensive and strike into the German lines.

Nine British, French and Belgian divisions dropped bombs on Ostend, causing considerable damage, according to the communiqué. The communiqué reports that the French are assembling a large force near the Argonne, and that they are merely waiting for an opportunity to make a new offensive and strike into the German lines.

until January 11, the French, battling bravely with rifle, bayonet and knife. On the 11th, the Germans began a counter-attack and the French were driven from the trenches and also their own, and were chased from the heights. Then they occupied from positions half-way up the slope.

The French expecting further German attacks on their left, sent reinforcements to that wing. The Germans, however, attacked on the right and right, the French being taken completely by surprise. Within three minutes the Germans captured the first line trenches, and that afternoon the entire height of the plateau was in their hands.

The position of the French troops was desperate, and they surrendered on the 14th, when the German right wing commenced an encircling movement.

From the battle to the Tonne, says the fighting in the Vosges has been most active since they were driven from the trenches and also their own, and were chased from the heights. Then they occupied from positions half-way up the slope.
